

Essay paper instructions

Neuropsychology II (PSY 106)

Spring semester 2023

Alexandra Economou, Associate Professor

General instructions:

Choose a research topic from the areas that the course covers and write a short paper up to 7 pages long, which will be based on scientific articles from international journals on the topic of your choice. You can use up to 5 articles, with approximately half from the last 5 years (2018 and later). At the end of your paper add your own comments concerning the significance, ramifications, or possible applications of the findings etc.

In about 7 double-spaced pages include a cover page with the title of your paper, your name, and the course title. On the last page cite your references using APA style (7th edition).

Your essay paper is 60% of the final grade as per course outline.